Committee OK's Enlargement of Carey Reservoir

WASHINGTON, March 5 (UPI)—A house interior subcommittee approved a bill today authorizing a $1,880,000 enlargement of Little Wood River reservoir near Carey, Idaho. E. G. Neilsen, assistant reclamation commissioner, said the project, to raise the height of the dam by 45 feet, would increase the reservoir's capacity from 12,100 to 30,000 acre feet. Additional irrigation water would be provided and the enlarged dam would prevent all but "extraordinary" floods, he said.

He said the project has "excellent repayment possibilities." However, he said official interior department endorsement of the bill would be delayed because a planning report on the area still is before state officials for review.

The subcommittee agreed to hold the bill before the full committee until a formal departmental report is received.

State Sen. Pete Cenarrusa of Idaho told the subcommittee there is unanimous sentiment in the area for the project. The dam is owned now by an irrigation district, he said, but farmer-members are willing to put its operation under government regulations, including the 160-acre limit.

D. E. Adamson, a farmer of Carey, said farmers in the project area have always been short of water for crops. Yet, he said, spring floods have caused frequent damage.

Zoning Board Gives Nod to T.F. Addition

Incorporation of the Lee Carney subdivision into the city was recommended by the Twin Falls zoning commission Monday morning.

The action was taken after a request from the citizens of that area was read. The only problem facing the commission on the proposed annexation was a large garage. This matter was circumvented by placing the structure in a non-conforming zone which will restrict its conversion to any other type business.

The area includes six blocks bisected by Caswell Avenue and Moreland Avenue, and bounded by Main Street to the west and Washington Street to the east, north of the present Lee Carney on Washington Street north.

Offstreet parking for grocery stores was set up on a plan requiring four square feet of parking for every square foot in the building floor plan.

This provision was made when it was brought to the commissioners' attention of plans for building a supermarket on Five Points north. Tentative plans for the expansion of Washington market call for a building approximately 160 by 85 feet. The grounds will cover to the north where homes are now situated.

Zones for residential areas were defined. In the multiple family classification is the triangular northeastern portion of the original townsite, bordered by Fourth Avenue east and north, and Blue Lakes boulevard and Addison Avenue. Most of the South Park area also is included in the multiple class.

Blackfoot Farmer Gets State Award

POYATCHI, March 5 (AP)—Thayne Guelting, a Blackfoot farmer who bought a patch of land in 1944 and turned it into a $140,000-a-year enterprise, has been named Idaho's outstanding young farmer of the year.

He got the award over eight other nominees Saturday night at a banquet sponsored by the Idaho State Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Glenn Buckendorf, Pollock, agricultural chairman for the Idaho Jaycees, said the prize would be a free trip to Pittsburgh, Pa., where Guelting will compete with other state winners for the national championship.

French Take Step to Ease New Tension

PARIS, March 5 (UPI)—Premier Guy Mollet met today with U. S. Ambassador C. Douglas Dillon, reportedly to soothe American worries over French criticism of Western policies to counter Moscow's peace offensive.

Mollet called in Dillon at noon after reports from Washington indicated the state department was shocked by French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau's dramatic call Friday for a thorough overhaul of the Western approach to communism.

Pineau's blunt words that he was "in profound disagreement" with official American and British policies shocked Western capitals. His statement was prominently exploited by the communist press and radio behind the iron curtain.

Pineau was en route to Karachi, Pakistan, for a SEATO meeting where he was expected to give his views in person to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

Pineau and Dillon conferred yesterday at Pineau's invitation. High sources said he had assured the American diplomat that France was determined to remain faithful to her Atlantic pact commitments.

Mollet stepped into the controversy because Pineau had to depart for the SEATO conference. Mollet and Dillon were expected to go over Pineau's speech point-by-point.

Fire Destroys Garage, Shop

BURLEY, March 5—A garage and carpenter shop belonging to Walter Short were destroyed by fire here Sunday morning. Before the fire was controlled by Burley firemen, one side of Short's house was scorched by the flames.

Cause of the fire is believed to have been a short circuit in either the building or one of the two Chevrolet cars parked in it. The building was located only 20 feet from the house.

In addition to the garage and the two automobiles, more than $1,000 worth of carpenter tools were destroyed, Mrs. Short said.

Neighbors, fearing the house would burn, carried all of the Short's furniture outdoors and, after the fire was out, carried it all back in again.

Paul Pinder, president of the host club, Vern McClellan, R. Sewell and Jerry R. Sewell and Jerry Sidwell were in charge of arrangements.

Water Store For Oakley Is Best in Years

OAKLEY, March 5—The water situation for the Oakley area looks better this year than it has in a number of years, Grant Sullivan, watermaster for the Oakley Canal company, reported Monday. Sullivan based his observation on the March 1 snow survey he and Robert Washburn conducted in Badger gulch and on water measurements in the Oakley reservoir.

The inflow into the reservoir as of March 1 was 46 second feet compared to 285 second feet last year. The gauge at the reservoir registered 55 feet on March 1 compared to 49.4 feet on March 1 last year. At present there are 11,930 acre feet of water behind the dam compared to 5,010 acre feet on March 1 last year.

The gain since last Oct. 1 has been 1,140 acre feet while the gain from Oct. 1, 1954, to March 1, 1955, was only 1,044 acre feet, he said.

Snow measurements and water content in Badger gulch now is 20 per cent greater than they were a year ago, he continued. The nine-year average is 39.79 inches of snow with 12.52 inches of water. The measurement this year is 49.6 inches of snow with 15 inches of water compared to 32.4 inches of snow and 8.3 inches of water on March 1 last year.

Tax Structure For Region Is Under Review

BOISE, March 5 (UPI)—The legislative interim tax structure committee opened a two-day meeting today with a study of the question of which is growing faster in Idaho—personal income or the cost of state government.

If the cost of government is found to be outstripping personal income, Chairman Ralph Wickberg said, "this will make the state's revenue structure obsolete."

Reports from behind the iron curtain said there were flood threats in Czechoslovakia and East Germany. Italy and Belgium also had high water.

The Danube was over its banks at Passau, Germany, and Linz, Austria, and still rising. At Passau it was at the 33-foot level, still well under the 47 feet recorded in July, 1954, when 24 persons lost their lives.

More than 2,500 persons have left their homes in Passau. All but two public schools were closed. The Red Cross and the U. S. army stood by ready to help.

Fifteen stretches of highway were closed in West Germany, half of them in the Danube area.

The act represented a bold new departure in the conception of the function of a civil defense and disaster relief agency.

William Specht, state civil defense director, said his department had made "great progress" in working out a form of insurance against disaster results.

Specht, in his opening remarks to the conference, recalled that in an address to the legislature in January of 1955 he had asked the legislature to consider the civil defense needs of Idaho.

"Pursuant to that invitation the legislature enacted and I signed house bill No. 250, which is now known as the disaster relief and civil defense act of 1955," Smylie said.

"That act represented a bold new departure in the conception of the function of a civil defense and disaster relief agency."

The act placed the civil defense administration and disaster relief under the jurisdiction of the national guard.

More than 2,500 persons have left their homes in Passau. All but two public schools were closed. The Red Cross and the U. S. army stood by ready to help.

Zoning Board Gives Nod to T. F. Addition

from Kimberly road to Filer avenue has been placed in a zoning that will allow only duplexes in addition to single family dwellings. The area extends west to Maurice street before meeting Filer avenue.

Another area placed in this zone is bordered by Harrison street on the east to Filer avenue and west to the Magic Valley Memorial hospital area. This zone picks up four additional blocks by taking the blocks bounded by Heyburn avenue and Filer avenue with Polk street the eastern boundary.

The highest residential zones which include only single family dwellings is located mostly in the present northeast development trend. It includes that area lying within Harrison street on the west, northward to the city limits. At Filer avenue the boundary changes to Fillmore street and goes two blocks east of the high school and up to Filer avenue east. A few blocks bounded by Sunlight street, Maple avenue, Shoup avenue and the city limits have been given this designation.

The commission will continue its study of the zoning problem Tuesday morning.

Sleepy Motorist Misses Dunking

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—When John Clifford, 22, fell asleep at the wheel early today, his car swerved, hit a seawall and plunged into the East river.

But when Clifford woke up, he was not in the river, but in the middle of a Bronx street.

"Where's my car?" he asked, a passerby.

"In there," the latter replied, pointing to the river.

Police said the sleeping driver apparently was thrown clear when the car hit the wall before its water plunge.

Cyprus Fights Might Become Newest Crisis

By United Press
The situation in Cyprus threatens to get even more dangerous soon. British Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd went there to negotiate with orthodox Archbishop Makarios, leader of the nationalists who want the eastern Mediterranean island handed over to Greece. Lennox-Boyd's mission, to which great importance had been attached, ended in failure.

Returns to London
He has returned to London. The British government plans to make a formal statement on the breakdown this week.

Unless there is an unexpected change in the atmosphere, the terrorism which broke out in April last year undoubtedly will intensify.

That will mean a real crackdown, long threatened, by the British forces under Field Marshal Sir John Harding, governor and commander in chief. He has been holding back for several weeks.

During that time, hope has first waxed, then waned that a settlement might be reached.

Home Rule Set
Under it, the 500,000 people of Cyprus would be given home rule. Britain would keep control of internal security.

But bearded Archbishop Makarios seems to be increasing his demands progressively.

Makarios wants a full amnesty for all political prisoners. Britain is willing to grant a limited one but refuses to free those convicted of murder.

Makarios, who claims he speaks for the island's 400,000 people of Greek racial stock, wants them to have a voice in the future government and legislature corresponding to their numbers.

Britain insists on safeguarding the rights of the remaining 100,000 people, who are of Turkish stock.

Turkey Fights Act
In this, Britain is vehemently supported by Turkey. Turkey, which ruled Cyprus until Britain took it over in 1878, does not ask that it be returned. It does demand that the rights of the Turkish minority be fully protected.

The third issue concerns security, meaning the control of the police. Britain wants that question to be put off until some time in the future, when the island returns to normal. Makarios now insists on a definite date by which security would be transferred to the Islanders.

The points at issue are not insoluble, according to dispatches from both Cyprus and London.

Seeks Full Powers
But it is now reported that Makarios wants to make himself the sole spokesman on almost all matters for the entire Cyprus population.

It is reported also that the terrorists have threatened him with death if he makes any concessions to Britain.

In that connection, some doubt seems to have arisen that Makarios could end the terrorism even if he got what he thought was a satisfactory settlement with Britain.

It could be that the situation might change for the better. But at the moment it looks decidedly bad.

Demos Are Given Free Radio Time

NEW YORK, March 5 (UPI)—The Mutual Broadcasting system today offered the Democratic national committee 20 minutes of free network air time for a non-candidate spokesman.

The network, which originally had turned down the committee's request for equal time to reply to President Eisenhower's 20-minute announcement of his candidacy last Wednesday, changed its mind and offered the Democrats the same 20 minutes this Wednesday.

But the network specified it should be used by a spokesman who is not a candidate for office this year. It was understood it made this restriction to avoid possible equal time demands from Democratic primary candidates.

Four Pilots Killed In Plane Mishaps

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 5 (UPI)—Four Swedish pilots were killed yesterday when they flew their planes into a low hill follow-the-leader fashion while on a ground attack maneuver.

The accident occurred in poor visibility while the four Vampire jets were making a simulated attack on infantry positions.

Swedish military authorities ordered an investigation.

Harriman Attacks Ike, Dulles Policy

NEW YORK, March 5 (UPI)—New York Gov. Averell Harriman attacked President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles last night for allowing the Russians to make "dangerous political and diplomatic gains" in the cold war.

Harriman, inactive candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in a full-dress foreign policy speech, lashed out at the Republicans for administration in general and Dulles in particular.

He said "indecision and inaction" of the administration was partly to blame for the Middle East crisis.

The NMSC is the nation's largest scholarship organization and has been conducting tests among 60,000 high school seniors. The results will determine the winners of three million dollars worth of scholarships.

The NMSC said 56 per cent of the boys and 16 per cent of the girls among the 5,078 semi-finalists plan to make science or engineering their career.

Tests Concluded

In addition, 36 per cent of the most promising girl students would like to be teachers—another profession currently suffering a shortage of new talent.

Ten per cent of both boys and girls favor medicine and other health pursuits, the NMSC said, and eight per cent of both want business careers. Eight per cent of the boys, but only five per cent of the girls, looked favorably on law careers.

Girls Prefer Arts

More girls than boys—12 per cent compared to four per cent—wanted careers in the arts and letters. Girls also showed more interest than boys in religious or social service careers—four per cent to three.

The rest of the preferred careers dwindled down to such listings as poultry manager, diamond cutter, interpreter, and the armed services. One of the boys said he thought it would be nice to be a general.

Chinese Reds Blast Hope of Freeing Men

GENEVA, Switzerland, March 5 (UPI)—The latest Communist Chinese blast at the United States apparently dashed any chance that all 13 Americans still imprisoned behind the bamboo curtain would be released this year, diplomatic sources said today.

The sources said the statement issued yesterday by the Red China foreign ministry appeared to put a definite price of a foreign ministers' conference between the two countries for the release of the 13.

It did not specifically mention the 13 civilian prisoners, but it said a Sino-American foreign ministers' conference "must be held in order to realize the desire for a peaceful settlement of disputes between China and the United States without resorting to force."

No Progress Noted

The communist statement accused the U.S. of dragging out the talks "as tool to prevent China from exercising its sovereign rights."

Diplomatic sources believed the communists might free one or two of the imprisoned Americans during the next few months for propaganda purposes, but they saw little or no chance all would be released.

Men Listed

Five of the 13 are the Rev. Paul McKinney, Jr., a Lutheran missionary of Baltimore, Md.; Robert McCann, of Altadena, Pa., a businessman; John T. Downey of New Britain, Conn., and Richard Peacock, employee; Hugh S. Redmond, of Yonkers, N.Y., an importer.

The other eight are Catholic priests: Jesuit John W. Clifford, Thomas Phillips, Charles J. McCarthy, all of San Francisco, and John A. Houle, of Glendale, Calif.; Franciscans Fulgence Gross, of Omaha, Neb.; Ambrose Pfluger, of Lindsay, Neb.; and John P. Wagner, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Maryknoll Joseph P. McCormick, of New York.

Adenauer's Party Shows Gain In Large German State Ballot

STUTTGART, Germany, March 5 party seats to pit 64 seats against Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's the Christian Democrats' 56.

Christian Democrats emerged stronger than ever today from elections in the state of Baden-Wuerttemberg.

But the party's control of both parliament chooses five members to the state government and the upper house. The five house (bundestag) of the federal seats now are held by Christian government was threatened by the Democrats.

It would face Adenauer with the possibility of an opposition coalition.

The Christian Democrats won 56 prospect of ramming his rearmament in the 120 seats in the state parliament legislation through an amendment in yesterday's election, six friendly chamber of parliament.

The elections cheered Christian Democrats took 21 and the Socialists 36. Democrats throughout Germany as loss of control by the Christian party.

The voters gave the communists a resounding defeat, taking away all four seats they held in the last parliament.

The Free Democrats and the refugee party, teamed with the Christian Democrats in the last coalition government led by Christian Democrat Dr. Gebhard Mueller.

Mueller said he would try to form a new such coalition but there were reports the Free Democrats and the Socialists would form an opposition together with the seven refugee.

Rebel Bands, Troops Clash; 72 Are Killed

ALGIERS, Algeria, March 5 (UPI)—Algerian nationalists swapped blows Saturday with French troops in the mountains of eastern Algeria in a day of violence that saw at least 72 slain.

French regulars, including paratroopers from Indochina, smashed a rebel encampment north of Constantine, killing 22 and capturing the same number.

After eight days, seven French soldiers in a military truck were ambushed and slain five miles from the border of Tunisia. The French command sent strong forces into the hills after the rebels.

French Legionnaires in western Algeria raided another nationalist hideout and took 34 prisoners.

In all, the French took 145 prisoners during the day. Terrorism and French countermeasures accounted for the other 43 deaths.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's proposal to furnish a vast store of uranium to foreign countries for peacetime purposes has run into a storm of opposition on Capitol Hill, even before submission of a detailed program. It has revived "giveaway" charges on the Democratic side, with the silent support of many Republican skeptics.

Such a gift would place the United States at an enormous disadvantage from a long-range standpoint, in the opinion of the opposition. It would give our competitors, possibly including Russia and the satellites, a 10 or 20-year head start in the conversion of atomic energy to industrial and agricultural utilization.

All notices required by law or by order of the appropriate commission to be published weekly will be published in the Thursday issue of this paper pursuant to Sec. 60-108 Idaho Code.

THE PRESIDENT'S DECISION

The path of duty is not always clear. President Eisenhower pondered long the question of where it lay in offering himself for further service to his country, if the people should want that.

Probably few leaders in American history have ever had so difficult an individual choice to make. No one could have made the decision more conscientiously than Mr. Eisenhower.

To the end he weighed soberly the arguments on both sides. He refused to allow himself to be pressed to a choice against his own will, though political and general public clamor rang in his ears. Continuously he tested himself physically to get a measure of his endurance, to learn more than even the doctors could tell him.

For he saw from the outset that what was at stake was not just matter of his own life or death. The security of his country was deeply involved. To be stricken fatally or gravely incapacitated in the course of his second term would perhaps be to inflict great confusion and uncertainty upon the American people in a critical age.

The President had to be satisfied that the prospect of this happening was reasonably slender, no more, possibly, than for any man of his 65 years.

He had to satisfy himself, too, that he could perform through another term to the limits demanded of a President who must lead not only his country but all the free world in the hour of its greatest competition with tyranny. He knew this was no moment to test the practicality of part-time duty.

The American people have learned to trust Mr. Eisenhower as a soldier and a statesman. They can be confident that in reaching favorable answers on the difficult points, he has been more severe on himself than any but his most rabid opponents would be.

It has been plain for some time that the President wants to serve another term. Otherwise, his painful self-trial on the matter of health would have been pointless. He is too simple and direct a man to have pretended he was weighing the health question just to buy a little further leverage with congress and the Republican party.

Now that the choice is made, its wisdom is bound to be debated by some, and that is proper. There can be no justification for silence on so vital an issue as a man's physical and other fitness for the great office of the presidency.

The people must now decide—and in his radio-TV talk the President listed the factors of decision. The people must decide what is the real essence of this task, and whether in their judgment Dwight Eisenhower is equipped—as he believes he is—to carry it out until January, 1961. This decision they must weigh, with all the facts and the lessons of history as their guide, as carefully as he has weighed his own monumental choice.

FIRST DEMOCRATIC TEST

In mid-March the nation will see the first test of strength between the two active Democratic presidential contenders, Adlai Stevenson and Senator Kefauver, as they square away in the New Hampshire primary.

This primary has two parts. The first is a so-called popularity test, and here Kefauver is the sole entry. The second involves the actual choosing of convention delegates, and in this a slate pledged to Kefauver and another "favorable" to Stevenson will meet hea head on.

Stevenson stayed out of the popularity test because Kefauver's 1952 primary victory there was considered to give the senator too much advantage. Key professionals are in his camp.

But Stevenson's followers in New Hampshire thought they saw a chance to steal a march. They felt a slate leaning to their man might do very well in the delegate contests.

So it went.

Should all or even part of this slate win out, the impact on the race would be heavy. Stevenson could claim that he notched delegates without ever campaigning in New Hampshire.

If he were then to follow up with a primary triumph in Minnesota, where he is highly favored to beat Kefauver, the latter's presidential prospects might be seriously crippled at the outset. The heralded clashes between the two in Florida and California in late spring might prove anti-climatic.

On the other hand, should Stevenson fail to break into the delegate lists in New Hampshire, he might pass the matter off by saying "I didn't try." He would suffer a certain damage, but it would be relatively small unless his slate was deeply buried.

Kefauver's problem is different. To build strength he must win all around in New Hampshire, make a creditable showing against stiff odds in Minnesota, and lick Stevenson in Florida or California or both. Even then he has no assurance he would gain the nomination. Few professionals in non-primary states look fondly upon him.

Stevenson is the front runner now because professionals in populous states like California, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Connecticut prefer him, and he is given an edge in two of the four primaries where he must meet Kefauver—Minnesota and California.

Most of the exports feel he must be conceded the probable convention winner unless he meantime feels the smack of unexpected defeat in one or more key primaries. Thanks to his eager supporters in New Hampshire, the country will get its first inkling of his hold on American voters a little earlier in 1956 than originally expected.

KANSAS IN A DITHER

Kansas is in a terrible dither. She has a governor, Fred Hall, who belongs to the wrong wing of the Republican party, or at least to the wrong faction, which is almost as unbearable as having a Democrat in the statehouse. Gov. Hall not only vetoed a "right to work" bill, but has condemned Dixon-Yates as a traitor and said a number of things that border on heresy to the GOP. A Topeka lawyer and legislator, Warren W. Shaw, has filed for the nomination against Gov. Hall, saying that "The reunion of the Republican party in Kansas is a 'must,' and confidence in outstate government must be restored." Signs of panic in Kansas had not been discernible over on this side of the state line, where the bairn-than-thou Jayhawk politician is one of the joys of our newspaper reading, but we doubt not the ability of the genuine, kindly Kansas Republicans to repair and restore the situation. Those boys are real pros and not to be kept from the feed-trough for very long at a time.—Pleasant Hill (Mo.) Times.

POT SHOTS

MAYBE SHE WAS ANXIOUS

Dear Potshots:

What would you think of a person who wouldn't even take the time to thank someone for returning a whole wad of money?

Yes, it happened to me. A woman's purse was left lying on the counter of a store. It just so happened that the woman who left it had been just ahead of me. I picked up the purse and started after her just as she left the store.

When I got to the street, she was no place in sight. So I opened the purse to see if I could find a name in it. Gee, never saw so much money all at once in my life except in a bank! About that time, the woman walked out of the next store.

I just walked up to her and asked her if she'd lost her handbag. She looked a bit startled—she hadn't even missed it! And she didn't so much as smile or say thanks when I handed it to her.

There's no guesswork attached to this particular meal. Or maybe it's all guesswork. Anyway, the Little Woman makes sort of a game out of it. Whenever she uses all her "company" silverware and china, that's a good tip. And when she uses candles to light the dining room table, that clinches it!

The fact that we haven't picked up a good case of food poisoning yet speaks well for the preserving qualities of our refrigerator and the strength of our stomachs.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Those who view with wild alarm of "education," which is said to produce a stupid ignoramus, now suppose that the homeowner without children or one who has already paid to send his own brood through school, has a duty to subsidize meals in school for the children of the current crop.

One droll "project" in the campaign to raise ourselves to the Russian level is a ball-yard of high minor league design at a cost of $105,000 for the use of high school ball teams. This Speaker estimated two years ago that it cost more than $125 per head to put a high school or college club onto the field, what with uniforms, fastidious mitts and gloves, shoes and spikes, stockings and the linger that goes with all this.

Baseballs of course were lumped into the estimate, and these effete athletes have no patience with the yarn ball wrapped in sticky tape which sufficed for McGraw, Jennings and Evers and hundreds of the best ballplayers in our records.

This ball-park has a reinforced concrete grandstand for 1200 spectators, showers and lockers and again the hurricane fences all the way, 75 yards away, and along a dirt trail on one side used by a dozen cars a day. For about half the distance, this fence is five feet high. The rest is six feet and surmounted by triple strands of barbed wire bent inward.

The excuse for resort to such barricades of any height in the first place is not apparent. The Russians get better results without them. Three-inch iron pipes set in concrete posts would do as well.

There has been one recorded death of a child in an Arizona school-yard by motor accident in 10 years. The driver blacked out and was blameless and the same thing could have happened on any street outside school hours. It is not immediately plain whether the barbed wire is there to keep students in or strangers out. In either case there are convenient gates which are not locked.

The public school children of New York debouch from exits in frantic batches unexpectedly right onto streets constantly burdened with freight trucks bowling along up to 30 miles an hour. There are proportionately no more fatal accidents there than there are in Arizona. The fact is that the impudent, greedy racket called "education" has been robbing owners of homes who moved to Arizona to get away from it all.

The school building "program" has been gigantic and here again contractors and purveyors never had it so good.

The standard of living in Soviet Russia, which now is said to have passed us in the development of scientists and technical experts in her public high schools, has been below that depicted in "Tobacco Road." Much of the Soviet empire ranks socially and economically with the Chinese backwoods.

In our country, food, abundant, varied and altogether superb, is the cheapest item in the "living" of the family. Nevertheless our standard of living is not only fly-around storms, but mostly over the water.

The United States had a 207,000 net increase in the number of residential aliens last year.

Solons Ready On Upcoming Farm Ballots

WASHINGTON. March 5 (IP)—Senators today began the last series of speeches and cloak-room maneuvers before voting on politically-potent omnibus farm aid bill.

The Senate planned to begin voting on the bill Thursday. Both administration and Democratic forces predicted victory by a slim margin.

The text of the "issue" is eight lines of text calling for return of rigid price props at 90 per cent of parity.

Hopes Expressed

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland yesterday would only go so far as to say he "sure hopes" the administration forces will be able to defeat the price supports provision.

But he added on a television program that a "realistic appraisal" indicates that as few as four votes may decide the issue.

Other Republicans last week predicted the margin would be on their side. But Chairman Allen J. Ellender of the Senate agriculture committee disputed it.

Farmers Warned

At the time for voting neared, it was disclosed the agriculture department has warned congress that farmers, already caught in a price-cost squeeze, are threatened with further loss of overseas markets to foreign competition.

The steady decline in U. S. farm exports from their post World War II peak has contributed sharply to the heavy buildup of U. S. farm surpluses and their dampening effect on farm prices.

The agriculture department's appraisal of the farm export outlook was given to the house agriculture appropriations subcommittee in response to questions raised by Rep. Charles B. Deane, D., N. C., at a closed-door hearing Jan. 27.

Hopes Dashed

The department said foreign production of wheat and cotton "is expected to continue increasing," further reducing the already diminishing overseas demand for American products. It also predicted "further increases in competition" for foreign markets in flue-cured tobacco.

The three crops make up a sizeable portion of U. S. farm exports. They boomed to record levels after World War II under foreign aid programs designed to put this country's impoverished allies back on their feet.

But exports of American wheat, tobacco, cotton and rice have dropped sharply in recent years as foreign production increased.

Dulles Starts Asiatic Meets To Aid Allies

KARACHI, Pakistan. March 5 (IP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived here today for an eight-nation conference called to shore up the free world's fight against the new communist offensive in southeast Asia.

He immediately plunged into a round of talks with U. S. and Far Eastern officials in preparation for the three-day Southeast Asia Treaty Organization conference which starts tomorrow.

SEATO representatives of Pakistan, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand and the Philippines already were here.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Pierre Mendès-France arrived a few hours after Dulles.

In a statement at the airport after he landed, Dulles said SEATO "stands guard over the independence and safety of its members by pledging all to stand ready to help each other against aggression. I am sure in this atmosphere freedom and great good will come."

He drove directly to the residence of U. S. Ambassador Horace Hilditch for a quick briefing. Then, only two hours after he landed, he went into a conference with Pakistani Gov. Gen. Iskander Mirza and Premier Chaudri Muhammad Ali on relations between the U. S. and Pakistan.

Mirza was elected president of Pakistan today after nominations closed at noon yesterday with no other names submitted. He will assume office March 23, the date Pakistan officially changes from a dominion to a republic in the British Commonwealth.

It was evident that the principal task of the eight nations would be to give high-level approval to measures to counter Communist Chinese claims that SEATO is a "paper tiger."

Philippines Vice President Carlos Garcia gave weight to this on his arrival last night when he said the "ultimate" goal of SEATO should be a standing military force against communism.

The death boosted Utah's highway fatality figure to 28 for the year, compared to 31 for the corresponding period of 1955.

The educators are also scheduled to examine the racial segregation problem among southern institutions and to hear speeches by Encyclopedia Britannica publisher William Benton and economist Beardley Ruml during their three-day session.

U. S. Weather Offers Spring And Snowfall

By United Press

Gusty, winds whipped new-fallen snow in the Northwest today, but snow a short distance east of here. However, officers were unable last night to establish his path past that point.

Strong March winds accompanied snow and rain squalls in Washington state and winds up to 70 miles per hour fanned parts of Colorado, Wyoming, and New Mexico.

The gusts damaged a building at Ft. Carson, Colo., yesterday and, in North Dakota, a light plane crashed and killed four persons in a snowstorm. One of the victims was State Sen. Carroll E. Day, regarded as a possible candidate for governor of United States senator.

Elsewhere in the nation, temperatures warmed up across the central and southern portions, jumping as much as 20 degrees from Tracy northeastward to the lower Great Lakes.

Temperature early today included 68 at Dallas, 44 at Chicago, 42 at Washington, D. C., and 72 at Key West, Fla. International Falls, Minn., was the nation's coldest spot with seven above zero.

Somebody broke into the store and dumped out four dozen eggs, a dozen sacks of flour and quantities of sugar and salt. Then they dragged several pork loins, hams and bacon slabs through the mixture and finished by dumping four dozen chickens into it.

State police said they never had seen a worse mess.

Four Spots Open As Cage Tourney Play Draws Near

By The Associated Press

Only four berths remained empty Monday in the sprawling, 25-team NCAA Championship Basketball tournament, and two of the vacancies may be filled by Monday night.

All four spots are reserved for conference champions—the Southeastern, Big 10, Big 7 and Ohio Valley.

The SEC is putting its entry to a vote. Alabama, already in possession of its first title since 1934, ordinarily would have the NCAA berth tucked away. But because the Tide's five regulars are four-year men and ineligible under NCAA rules, the SEC members must decide whether to send Bama's second team or Kentucky, which wound up second in the standings for a change.

Iowa can collar the Big 10 title and tourney berth by getting past Indiana Monday night at Iowa City. The Hawkeyes made ready to grab their first repeat crown by laying the wood to Illinois Saturday. The Illini can be revived for a title share only by coupling a victory over Northwestern Monday night with a Hoosier upset of the Iowans.

The Big 7 could be decided Tuesday night with a Kansas State victory over Kansas.

Western Kentucky and Tennessee Tech meet in the first phase of a 3-way playoff for the Ohio Valley title Wednesday. The winner then meets Morehead (Ky.) Thursday for the crown. Western snared it by defeating Tennessee Tech last week.

All three wound up with 7-3 marks. Here's the way the tourney pairings shape up at the moment, with "at-large" and conference entries designated:

First round—

At New York, March 12: Holy Cross (at-large) vs. Temple (Mid-Atlantic); Canisius (at-large) vs. North Carolina State (Atlantic Coast).

March 13: Connecticut (Yankee) vs. Manhattan (at-large); Dartmouth (Ivy) vs. West Virginia (Southern).

At Fort Wayne, Ind., March 12: DePaul (at-large) vs. Marshall (Mid-American) vs. Ohio Valley winner.

At Wichita, Kans., March 13: Memphis State (at-large) vs. Oklahoma City (at-large); Southern Methodist (Southwest) vs. Texas Tech (Border).

At Seattle, March 13: Idaho State (Rocky Mountain) vs. Seattle (at-large).

Second round—

At Philadelphia, March 16: New York winners meet, with two advancing to Eastern semi-final at Philadelphia March 17.

At Iowa City, March 16: DePaul-Wayne winner meets SEC entry, Marshall-Ohio Valley winner meets Big 10 entry with those winners meeting at Eastern semi-final at Iowa City March 17.

At Lawrence, Kans., March 16: Memphis State-Oklahoma City winner meets Big 7 entry, SMU-Texas Tech winner meets Houston Missouri Valley with those winners meeting in Western semi-final at Lawrence March 17.

At Corvallis, Ore., March 16: Idaho State-Seattle winner meets Utah (Skyline), UCLA (Pacific Coast) meets San Francisco (California Basketball Assn.) with two winners meeting in Western semi-final at Corvallis March 17.

The Eastern and Western championships will be determined at Evanston, Ill., March 22 with those winners meeting for the national title at Evanston March 23.

Deadlocked with Demaret were Doug Ford, also of Klamath Lake; Walter Burkemo, Franklin, Mich.; Freddie Haas, Claremont, Calif., and Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex. They each won $1,046.

Ford and Burkemo both finished with 68's. Hawkins had 70 and Haas 71. After handing Mayfield his check, Peij Spiller, tournament chairman, announced that prize money for the sixth Baton Rouge Open would be increased to $15,000.

Mayfield was asked about his plans. He replied:

"I'm going to Los Angeles. I had a new daughter two weeks ago and I want to spend some time with her."

Garcia Is Treated For Stomach Ill

TUCSON, Ariz., March 5 (UPI)—Pitcher Mike Garcia was scheduled to resume workouts with the Cleveland Indians today after responding to treatments for severe stomach pains.

It was feared at first that the 32-year-old right-hander might have to undergo an appendectomy but Trainer Wally Bock said the pains stemmed from other causes. Garcia had an 11-13 record last season and is eager to get down to work early in an effort to make up for the poor showing.

The Electrics outshot the Washington Market team 88-90, although a Washington riflemen fired 80 for high score in the match.

Wins 880-Yard

LOS ANGELES, March 5 (UPI)—Olympic champion Mai Whitfield, who enrolled at Los Angeles State college after he learned he still had one year of eligibility remaining, won the 880-yard run and anchored the winning mile relay team in a track and field meet Saturday.

Whitfield, 31, last competed in a collegiate meet at Ohio State in 1940. However, he will not be eligible for the NCAA championship meet because he has competed in it three times.

The 1956 champions from Colorado State are Phil Martinez, 123 pounds; Gary Ode, 130; Les Krogger, 137; Carl Goodwin, 157; Ray McGuire, 167, and Bill Anderson, 177.

Gene Williams of Western State took the 115-pound title and teammate Rod Houston won the 191-pound laurels. Heavyweight Ed Pitt, and 147-pounder Les Poletie grabbed championships for Montana State.

Heavy Hitting Features Major League Training in Intra-Squad Competition

By The Associated Press

This is the time of year when the pitchers are supposed to be ahead of the hitters, but you never would guess it from looking at the reports from baseball's major league training camps.

Exhibition games don't get underway until Saturday but Sunday veterans and rookies alike slammed the ball to all corners of the lot in intra-squad contests as the pitchers, for the most part, took a mauling.

Rudy Regaldo, who was the talk of the 1955 exhibition season and then failed to make the grade with the Cleveland Indians, led the barrage of homers.

The 25-year-old first base candidate, who hit .318 for Indianapolis before being recalled near the end of the season by the Indians, hit three home runs, including one with the bases loaded. His circuitous accounted for eight runs as a team managed by Coach Tony Cuccinello beat Red Kress' team 13-9. Sam Mele also hit a grand slammer for Cuccinello's team.

Willie Mays, 1955 major league leader with 51 homers, was up to his old tricks in the New York Giants camp at Phoenix. Ariz. He poked one a good 400 feet over the leftfield wall. Henry Thompson also homered.

The Milwaukee Braves' intra-squad game at Bradenton, Fla., produced two homers by rookies—Wes Covington and Felix Mantilla. Harmon Killebrew, Lyle Littrell and Rudy Tanner provided the homers in the Washington Senators' work-out, while rookie Frank Robinson

Two Senators Criticize Ike's Campaign Bid

WASHINGTON, March 5 (UPI)—Two Republican leaders have taken a nibble at the props under President Eisenhower's campaign ruling against personal barnstorming.

Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland said yesterday he will urge Mr. Eisenhower to "go into a few key states" during the fall campaign to all politically hard-pressed congressmen.

"It is important for a presidential candidate to get out beyond television broadcasts from the White House," he said.

And Sen. Barry Goldwater, R.-Ariz., former chairman of the GOP senate campaign committee, predicted the President will "be doing some sort of barnstorming when the chips are down."

Comments Given

In the Democratic camp, three presidential candidates campaigned and spoke out:

1. Gov. Averell Harriman of New York charged the administration with losing the initiative to Russia. He said at New York administration "indecision and inaction" have led to "dangerous political and diplomatic gains" by Russia.

2. Sen. Estes Kefauver, D., Tenn., at Keene, N. H., called for a new "summit conference" to settle problems in the unstable Middle East. He also called for an "equilibrium of arms" between East and West.

3. Adlai Stevenson pushed his barnstorming tour through Minnesota. He planned to talk briefly at eight more towns before tonight. He faces Kefauver in the Minnesota primary March 20.

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall also took up the President's campaign plans. But he stayed close to Mr. Eisenhower's self-imposed ruling.

Describes "Minimum"

Hall said Mr. Eisenhower's campaign trips will be kept to a "minimum." He said at most that means "a flight into a city and back—not one which would cover many cities and many stops."

Both Knowland and Goldwater said the President's campaign plan places a "greater burden" on other Republican candidates.

However, House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr., Massachusetts, disagreed. He said Mr. Eisenhower should appear at "a few" big political meetings across the nation to "meet the people." But he said Mr. Eisenhower's plans to rely primarily on mass methods of communication will be "no handicap."

Movies Shown at Methodist Dinner

HAGERMAN, March 5—R. S. Tofflemire, Twin Falls, showed two color motion pictures on the Snake river, from Shoshone Falls to the Thousand Springs area, and Stanley basin, at a dinner Friday at the Methodist church.

The pictures were made entirely by Tofflemire, who takes the shots, develops and cuts the film and supplies his own narration and sound for the films.

The dinner was sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. John Hayden, Mrs. Charles Skinner, and Mrs. Ernest Billiard were in charge of general arrangements. The kitchen committee consisted of Mrs. Hayden, Mrs. Skinner, Mrs. John Townsend, Mrs. Madden, Mrs. Ralph Barton, Mrs. Al Karalloff, Mrs. O. F. Molony and Mrs. Ben Taylor. The dining room was attended by Mrs. Frank Myers, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Delmer Pinkston, Mrs. Carl Hardwick, Mrs. Donald Rees and Mrs. Robert Tupper.

Mrs. Alfred Sandy was hostess, Mrs. W. G. Tupper was treasurer and Mrs. Ernest Billiard was in charge of the gift table.

Official Requests 'Loophole' Plugs

WASHINGTON, March 5 (UPI)—Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., wants congress to close up "loopholes" in the federal lobbying act. Brownell said yesterday the "loopholes" make the present act "very hard to enforce."

He made the statement as Sen. Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., declared he will refuse to support a "clean" elections bill sponsored by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, Tex., Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland and 48 other senators.

Hennings, former chairman of the senate elections subcommittee, protested that the bill, aimed chiefly at general elections for federal offices, would not go far enough in curbing primary election abuses. Hennings said he will support his own "reform" bill instead.

Two Survive Plane Smash On Mountain

TOKYO, March 5 (UPI)—A U. S. air force transport slammed into a snowbank on the side of mount Fuji today but its two pilots walked away unharmed, the air force reported.

The two-engined C-47 crashed in 20 feet of snow about 1,000 feet from the top of the sacred mountain that overlooks the plains of Kanto.

An air force spokesman said the deep snow padded the shock of the crash, enabling the two pilots to crawl out and walk to a Japanese weather station a short distance away.

They were identified as Maj. John C. Fowle, Lake Worth, Fla., and Capt. Earl Preston Kelley, Clear Springs, Md.

The plane, on a local test flight, burrowed into the snow at the 11,000 foot level of the 12,375 foot peak.

Shortly after the crash, a jet flying over the scene radioed a report. A SA-16 rescue aircraft flew to the spot to parachute doctors but the air force spokesman said the pilots were "all right" and did not require medical attention.

Air force and Japanese photographers who attempted to fly over the scene of the crash reported that gale force winds drove them away.

Firm Slates Huge Building Program

NEW YORK, March 5 (UPI)—A 100 million dollar ship building program, believed to be the largest ever undertaken by private enterprise, was announced by the Stavros S. Niarchos interests.

Niarchos, a millionaire Greek ship owner, said the program calls for construction of 20 ships aggregating 630,400 deadweight tons. Three of the ships will be built in U. S. shipyards, 11 in Japan, four in Sweden and two in Germany. Orders for all the vessels were placed within the last six months.

The biggest ship scheduled for construction, a 46,000-ton sister ship of the World Glory, will be built by the Bethlehem Steel corporation at Quincy, Mass. This tanker will be the second largest commercial vessel exceeded in size only by the liner United States.

Two 32,600 ton tankers will also be built by the Bethlehem corporation.
